NEW-YORK'S WANAMAKER'S.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF THE ESTAB-LISHMENT.

CROWDS OF CUSTOMERS VISIT THE OLD STEW-ART STORE AND ADMIRE THE BRILLIANT

DISPLAY OF GOODS-MR. WANA-

John Wanamaker, whose name as a merchant has for years been a household word in Philadelphia, opened his great New York establishment in Broadway, between Ninth and Tenth sts., yesterday morning, with the most brilliant prospects for a successful career. From the time when the doors of the old Stewart Building were thrown open at 8 o'clock a steady throng of people passed in and out, filling every department of the huge place for the rest of the day. They were not merely spectators, either, as frequently likely to be the case at the opening of large stores. The number of customers was so great that the clerks had a hard time in attending to them. Provisions for the expected rush had been made by number of friends and business associates from Phillooking at the brilliant scene which it presented from almost every point of view. In the afternoon he was to be found in his office near the Fourth-ave, entrance, where his time was principally occupied in receiving the congratulations of hundreds of friends, both from this city and from Philadelphia. To a Tribune reporter Mr. Wanamaker said that he was enjoying the day thoroughly, and that he was more than satisfied with the reception accorded to the en-

Probably the most striking single department upon the main floor, and possibly in the whole building, was the wonderful display of silks in the great ro-New weaves and designs of exquisite coloring and quality were on every counter, and the women who once strayed into this spot were loath to leave it. Mr. Wanamaker's satisfaction over the recent election was typified, said one of his representa-tives, by the beautiful array of golden-yellow silks which occupied one side of the rotunds. The arrangement of the varying shades of this color was certainly an artistic bit of work, and was carried out in many other departments as well. Near the silks were the These proved particularly attractive to the crowds, and there was much surprise at the vast amount of space allotted to them. The artificial flowers for millinery purposes were so natural in their appearance that the part of the store where they were shown looked like a brilliant conservatory. The illu-sion was assisted by the perfume of several baskets of the real blossoms sent in by Mr. Wanamaker's IT WAS IN THE KEEPING OF THE MONKEY,

There has seldom been shown in a drygoods house such claborate and artistic embroidery as may be seen new at Wanamaker's. The sofa-pillows, scarfs and draperies offer innumerable possibilities in the way of attractive Christmas gifts. On the second floor the people in the clock department were quite beside them-selves with work. It looked as if a large percentage of the women of New-York had postponed getting their winter wraps and jackets until Wanamaker's should open. On the Ninth-st, side of the floor the upholstery display was drawing its share of the general attention. There were piles of rich Oriental russ and tapestries, and a remarkably varied assortment of delicate lace curtains. At least one woman discovered something which she had not been able to find in other stores. may be seen now at Wanamaker's. The sofa-pil-ment of delicate his which she had not been able to find in other stores.

"Do, look!" she exclaimed in delight to a friend; "there is a window-box at last. I've been looking for one for years.

The third and fourth floors of the store are filled with carpets and an immense stock of furniture. In the basement are the china and house-furnishing goods, and toys enough to turn the heads of all the youngsters in New-York.

A large Swiss orchestrion, placed just at the foot of the stairway, was constantly surrounded with people yesterday, who listened to its extensive repertory of tunes. One more feature which deserves especial mention is the book denartment. It is intended that this shall be kept fully stocked, and that a book shall be found there on the sumthat a book shall be found there on the sut that it is first advertised by the publishers

CRUELTY CHARGED AGAINST A WIFE.

HER HUSBAND ALLEGES THAT SHE BEGGED HER

LOVER TO SHOOT HIM.

Justice Pryor, in the Supreme Court, yesterday handed down a decision declining to grant William R. Moir a decree of separation from his wife, Mabel Moir, until he receives further proof that Mrs Moir was served with the summons in the action. Moir, who lives at No. 51 Bedford-st., with his child. Jesse A. Moir, alleged in his complaint that his wife has for several years treated him in a cruand tyrannical manner, and on one occasion begged her lover, John Wallace, to shoot him.

The Moirs were married on December 2, 1887. On January 8, 1894, Moir says, his wife became infatuated with one John Wallace, and neglected her On January 14, 1804, he says she drew knife while they were sitting at the supper table, and flourished it over his head. On January 31, 1894, she spat in his face and threw his supper our of the window. Although he says she treated him in a cruel and tyrannical manner nearly all the time. Moir does not complain of another display of in a cruel and tyrannical manner hearly all the time. Moir does not complain of another display of his wife's temper until August 17, 1805, when she threw a lamp at him while he was seated at his desk. The lamp was spanshed, and Moir's head was severely cut. On September 14, 1895, the plaintiff says that his wife went out with his salary for the week. When she returned at 1 o'clock the following morning all the money was gone. About moon Mrs. Moir again left the house, and several hours later returned with a pair of black eyes and a hadly disfigured face.

The couple separated by mutual consent shortly afterward, but Moir in January of this year met his wife in the street and became reconciled to her. They went to her mother's house to pass the night, and at 1 o'clock in the morning the door of their bedroom was opened by Wallace. Mrs. Moir, according to her husband, jumped out of bed end threw her arms around Wallace's neck. When Moir attempted to interfere, she held him fast and shouted to Wallace. "Kill him! Shoot him." She left the room, and her husband heard Wallace and herself kissing outside. He asked his wife to return to him, and she replied, "No, never! I love Wallace, and am ready to work to support him." When the case came up in court yesterday Justice Pryor said that a mere admission on the part of the defendant that she was the person named in the summons when the process-server attempted to serve her was not sufficient identification, and he must have more proof before he could decide the case.

A BRUTAL PERFORMANCE IN THE RING. A prize-fight took place last evening in the Old n Street building in Broadway between two worthless second-rate fighters known as "Joe" Choynski and Peter Maher. Just why these brutes are permitted to disgrace the city is not clear. This ch had all the elements of a prize-fight and not a sparring contest, in any sense of the word, and the margin between prize-fighting and sparring c is so narrow in any event that the police would have been justified if they had put every one concerned in the fight under arrest. The match was made by Tom O'Rourke, a low saloonkeeper in Boston and a backer and trainer of negro pugilists. It is to be toped that the Police Department will take such action that in the future prize-fights will not be allowed to take place in the most prominent thoroughare in New-York. Maher won the fight in six

A BIT OF JUDICIAL SARCASM.

In overruling a demurrer in the case of Elias C. Benedict against John G. Moore et al., Judge Coxe, of the United States Circuit Court, in his decision nded down yesterday indulges in a bit of judicial casm. "The bill," he says, "contains sixty-five paragraphs, 128 follos and covers thirty-four printed pages. It is not, therefore, a violent presumption to assume that nothing relating to the transaction in controversy has been omitted. The defendants have filed general demurrers. No objection is made to the bill upon the ground that it is too long. Were this question properly presented, it is not unlikely that the Court might reach the conclusion that, should the Court might reach the conclusion that, should the pleader set himself seriously to the task of revision and condensation, a word or two here and there might possibly be dispensed with."

The suit, an account of which has already been published, is one in which the plaintiff alleges that he was the owner of 2,000 shares of the stock of the Williamsburg Gas Light Company, which he transferred to the individual defendants solely to enable them to effect a consolidation of all the gas companies in Brooklyn; that the defendants violated this agreement and converted his property to their own use.

"It remains to consider," says Judge Coxe, "whether proof can be given under the allegations. It is thought that it can be."

At any rate, it was frankly admitted by all those in charge that the metropolitan greeting which the store received was establishments as those of P. there is foundation for the allegation that substianalyzed by the authorities.

William Hoffmann, one of the proprietors of the Jacob Hoffmann Brewery in East Fifty-fifth-st., was not inclined to look upon the proposed effort; before the coming Legislature as anything out of the ordinary. It is getting to be an old story now," he said, "that year after year there is a greater desire for rubbing it into the browers. Not content with raising the retailers' and brewers licenses, there is a proposition to increase the United States Heense from $1 to $2 per barrel. As to this alleged adulteration of beer, little or nothing of such practices take place in this city. It may be used in the manufacture of lager beer, but even with these ingredients beer is of the best quality and bas no deleterious effects upon the drinkers. The State Board of Health has the fullest liberty to enter our brewery and analyze our beer, and as a matter of fact, they frequently do it. The same facilities. I understand, are given by every other the property in this city."

William P. Rinckhoff, the secretary of the Consumers Brewing Company, said that the insinuations that had beer was manufactured from substitutes for malt and hops were easily controverted by the knowledge that at the present time malt and hops were so cheap as to make it totally unnecessar; for any recourse to adulterating methods. The only charge that could be made against the trade in this city, he noded, was that probably, in the summer months, some small brewers might sell newer beer than was destrable.

At the end of the reading Mr. Parker said he had made no attack on Mr. Roosevelt or other members of the Police Beard, and he asked why certain changes had been made in the methods of examination without the approval of all the Commissioners. In the wrangle which ensued it was stated that Mr. Roosevelt had caused the changes to be made, and the minutabook showed a resolution on the subject for which Commissioner Grant was recorded as having voted, although he declared he had mover heard of the resolution. Mr. Parker wanted questions as to information about places in the city restored to the examination papers, and said he regarded the questions about geography, history and government as entirely unnecessary. The Commissioners decided to have all the questions referred to Colonel Grant before they are printed, so that he can decide if they are proper for the examination of men who want to be appointed policemen.

officers and crew. She sank in deep water shortly after.

The shipwrecked men landed on the Cuban coast about sixty miles west of Havana, having saved the vessel's papers. They were taken in charge by the Spanish soldiers, who were patrolling the coast at that point. Henry W. Delerey, one of the seamen, tells the following story of their treatment: "We were taken to a sugar plantation, where we were treated kindly at first, although it was evident that we were thought to be fillbusters. Later in the day another troop of soldiers took us to Marial, where they insisted that I could speak Spanish. I was taken to the headquarters and questioned by a big Spaniard, who asked if we were English or American. I answered: 'English.'

were English or American. I answered: English."

"No. American,' said he, striking me in the neck and over the head with a loaded cane, stunning me. The blood ran down my face and back and I felt weak, and as three solders pointed their guns at me I expected to be shot. Failing to learn that there were Americans among our crew I was dismissed. We were compelled to sleep on the bare stone floor with soldiers on guard. We were then sent to Havana, where we were cared for by the British Consul. If we had been Americans we would never have lived to tell the tale."

Captain Nelson and his twelve men were taken to Hoffman Island for observation. They will probably be released to-day. The Colla was a small fruiter of 17 tons, plying between Honduras and Charleston. She was built in Ayr, Scotland, in 1841, and was 150 feet long, 23 feet beam and II feet deep.

The report as already published in The Tribune that Nos. 41 and 43 Wall-st, and Nos. 45 and 47 Exchange Place have been sold by W. K. Aston for about $2,000.-(60 was fully verified yesterday, but the name of the buyer and his intentions still remain a mystery. brokers are Richard M. Montgomery & Co., No. 61

Mr. Aston was seen at his office on the third floor of No. 45 Exchange Place yesterday afternoon by a Trib-une reporter. He gays information so far as his end bargain was concerned of considerable interest to real estate men and to property-owners. Mr Asion said: "The report that I have sold this building and the one with which it connects at Nos. 41 and 42 Wallis entirely correct. The papers are signed and the transaction is closed, but I am not at liberty to make any statement as to who the purchaser is or as to the exact price paid for the properties." Mr. Aston intimated, however, that the price at which the property had been sold by him was about $2,000,000. It may have been a trifle less than this. Nothing could be learned as to the basis of the deal, but it is generally understood that Mr. Aston takes other property in exchange as part payment. Mr. Asion continued: "The Wallest, properly has a frontage of 30 feet 6b inches, and the Exchange Place building has a frontage of 50 feet and 2 inches, the lots connecting in the rear and having a total depth, running through from one street to the other, of 210 feet. "The Wall-st, property was originally an eight-

I had been anxious It was directly in the rear of my offices here in Exchange Place, and I knew that by securing the Wall-st, realty and connecting the two buildings by cutting through in the rear of each the value of both properties would be materially increased The Exchange Place piece I bought from the late Eugene Kelly, some seven years ago, for about one-half of the price I recently paid for the Wall-st. property. The building was then five stories high. and I have not added to its height since, though it has been thoroughly remodelled, and with the sec-ond and fourth stories connecting through with the first and third steries, respectively, of the Wall-st. building, where two elevators run, these

Wall-st. building, where two elevators run, these are now particularly line office buildings."

At the price suggested the selling price of the property would be nearly $50 a square foot. It was learned from a well-known real estate broker that the Queen Insurance Company had practically sold the Wall-st, property to Mr. Kelly, the former owner of the Exchange Place property but that there was some misunderstanding when the time came to sign the papers, and the deal never one, but the injustice of this was quickly seen, and the question now is in what form to say him the greatest possible good.

This story is offered without apologies. It is put forward plainly and definitly, just as it comes from the authorized press agent of the therte.

WHEN YALE MEETS PRINCETON.

PROSPECT OF A GREAT ATTENDANCE AT THE BIG FOOTBALL MATCH-A WILD STAMPEDE FOR TICKETS.

There is one athlette feature held annually in this city which from a financial standpoint does not need my preliminary notices or the forethought and aitention of a press agent. This game is the football contest between the Yale and Princeton teams, which akes place this year on Saturday at Manhattan Field. Unlike the other football games held in Hariem this year, none of which have proved a financial success, the game will be managed by a committee of college men, and, in consequence, those who go to the contest may expect considerate treatment. A small army of men is already at work at the grounds, and everything promises to be in proper shape when the seasoned athletes take to the gridiron on Saturday. There was a wild stampede to secure rickets at the store of A. G. Spalding & Bro., in Nassauest, yesterday, but only the early comers were fortunate in securing desirable sea;s. By noon not a ticket of any sort was to be had for love or money, and Julian Curtis's life was made a burden money, and Julian Curties's life was made a burlen to him.

An equal number of seats have been sent to Yale and Princeton and it seems doubtful if any of them will come back to the committee. Not a covered seat or even a reserved seat in any of the covered seat or even a reserved seat in any of the covered seat stands have been taken. Acting Inspector McCullagh will in all probability have charge of the police arrangements. Admission tickets will not be placed on sale until Saturday, when a certain number, possibly $000, will be sold at the grounds.

The grandstand will seat about 6,000 people, the old Horse Show s and possibly 500 less; stand A about 1,200, stand B about 1,200 and stand C about 3,000. There are twenty-four coach positions and 150 field boxes seating six people each. PENNSYLVANIA GRADUATES BEATEN.

THE COLLEGE BOYS EASILY DISPOSE OF THE ELDER PLAYERS-SCORE 32 TO 6.

Philadelphia, Nev 16.-The Pennsylvania University eleven this afternoon played a team of Pennsylvania graduates headed by George Woodruff, the Quakers' whipping the old players by a score of 32 to 6. As graduates had not the semblance of team play and no signals, they could not advance the ball, and the University went through their line almost at will. The University played a hard, dashing game. The running of Gelbert and Morice was particularly brilllant, the former's touchdown being made after a run of seventy-five yards. The touchdown scored by the oldline "stars" was a gift, as it was made on a pier that would never have been allowed against another From now until the Harvard game on Saturday Pennsylvania's practice will be in secret, and it is probable that the team may be taken away to some quiet place, possibly the Delaware Water Gap. GOLD DEMOCRATS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO BEMAIN IN THE DEMOCRATIC FOLD. Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 16.-William J. Bryan was in Kansas City a short while this morning, arriv-ing at 6 o'clock from Lincoln, and starting at 9.45 for a two weeks' hunting and fishing trip in the Ozarks, in Taney County, Missouri. He will join a party consisting of Governor William J. Stone, Campan, of Michigan; George H. McCann, Springfield, Mo.; Samuel B. Cook, of Mexico; Major Har vey W. Salmon, of Clinton, Mo., and Colonel M. C. Wetmore, of St. Louis. The two weeks will be spent upon a 7,000-acre game preserve right in the heart of the Ozarks. The preserve is stocked with deer, bear, turkey and qualt.

During his brief stay in this city Mr. Bryan gave United Associated Presses representative short interview. He said: "I have no intention of removing from Lincoln.

I see no necessity for it. I propose to do all I can for the cause of free silver. I don't want to be regarded as a leader, but simply as an ordinary worker, confident that the sentiments I advocate to-day than ever, and will grow daily, When the people are enlightened on a just cause, perpetual youth is a fountain of perpetual, perfect health.

Put indigestible matter into the stomach, and it is likely to find lodgment in the bowels. It will stop their action. Poisonous, refuse matter, which should have been thrown off, is retained in the body, and as it cannot go any place else, more or less of it gets into the blood. That's constipation. It is such a wonderfully simple thing that people do not regard it seriously. They let it run on, let it grow worse, become chronic, and show itself all over the body in fifty ways before they consider it import ant. Constipation causes nine.

not seem very serious, but even they are very disagreeable. A few of them are sour stomach, flatulence, heart-burn, distress after cating, foul breath, coated tongue, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sick and bilious headaches, general lassitude and debility. When any of these symptoms show themselves, you should immediately take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, according to directions. They are tiny, sugar-coated granuels, made on purpose to cure constipation. They do this perfectly and quickly, and they are the only preparation in the world that will do it.

There are plenty of medicines that will give relief as long as you keep on taking them, but you can't stop. They don't cure; they give merely temporary relief. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets give immediate relief and produce a permanent cure.

they will see its merit. Education can do nothing to hurt the cause of silver. This year we got the heaviest vote in States where free silver had been longest discussed. Where it has been presented to the people only in a limited way, it did not do as well. Kentucky is an instance. While the Democrats lost 6,000 votes, the vote was almost a tle. This shows the result of the silver cause. The people are seeing the light, and will learn for themselves. "The gold Democrats, if they come back to the Democratic party must come as silver men. There is no room for two Republican parties in this country. The gold Democrats cannot come back to the party and run it on Republican ideas. They left because of the platform, called us Popullist long before the Chicago Convention, and unless they have changed their views, must stay with the Republicans. The Democratic party is committed to silver and will continue to fight for it.

BRYAN TRAPPED THE CONVENTION. Chicago, Nov. 16.—A dispatch to a morning paper from Washington says: "Bryan's nomination was no accident, so far as he and his friends are concerned. When he stood up to make his eventful speech he was throwing loaded dice, which had been prepared nearly two years before. The Boy Orator had assisted his friends in pulling wires for many .nonths, and every move in the game had been studied out. "This information was gleened in Nebraska during the week preceding election, and the authority the story is no less a person than James C. Dahlman, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Nebraska, Mr. Bryan's confidential political adviser and friend. He gave permission to print the story after election, and meanwhile every statement he made was verified from other cources, the whole proving conclusively that William Jennings Bryan knew he was playing for high stakes when he made his celebrated "cross of gold" speech at the Chicago Convention. He was not only fully aware of the plans of his Nebraska friends, but was consulted at every stage, and on himself alone depended the final manocavre which secured for him the opportunity to speak just at the right time to capture the Convention."

CHIEF CONLIN NOT TO RETIRE.

"The Mail and Express" yesterday afternoon printed a long story stating that Chief of Police 'onlin had decided to ask for retirement, and had written a letter to the Commissioners on the sub-ject. The story was in part an alleged interview with an unnamed police official, giving reasons for the alleged decision of the Chief to retire. There have been other similar reports recently, and one of the reports was that a letter signed by Chief Conlin, asking for retirement, was in the keeping of Commissioner Parker. Chief Conlin was seen in the afternoon in Mr. Parker's office, and he said. "There is no truth whatever in the report. I have not applied for retirement, and had no talk of severing my connection with the Department at present. I have written no letter to the Commissioners as stated."

Stated."
Commissioner Parker said: "Lais story is as silly as the one printed the other day about a general transfer of sergeants. They are stock stories when there is nothing else."
